Zach Ramsey at LIA Tavern

Installation view at LIA Tavern, Chicago. Artwork by Zach Ramsey.

Chicago artist Zach Ramsey brings a climate-altered future into LIA Tavern's River North dining room. In Inherited Winds, a panoramic projection stretches across an eleven-foot-square wall above five holographic displays, prints on metal, canvas and acrylic, and a manifesto presented as a scroll.

In the moving-image work, airships carry travelers above dust storms on a largely desert Earth. Ornate buildings and clothing place the future in conversation with the past. Against those expansive settings, small gestures between people give the work its intimate scale. Mosaic compositions appear between video loops.

About the artist

Zach Ramsey is a Chicago-based multidisciplinary artist, filmmaker and writer. His work draws on historical forms to explore possible futures and the role technology plays in shaping them. He holds a Master of Fine Arts from the University of Southern California.
